

Lexington Habitat is proud to announce our two Lexington Habitat ReStores will combine into one location at 451 Southland Drive (next to Good Foods Market and Café). This decision was made after more than a year of evaluation, market study, planning, and research that determined this location was ideal for the much needed expansion of the ReStore.

The new ReStore location features 23,000 square feet which will allow the ReStore to greatly expand operations beyond our current 15,000 square feet capacity. As we prepare for the move to the new location our current ReStore locations will remain fully operational. The closing dates of our current locations will be announced when our grand opening plans are unveiled. All other aspects of our mission will continue to be served at our Industry Road location.

Proceeds from ReStore sales are an important source of revenue for Lexington Habitat and we are grateful for the opportunity to have more space to showcase the great home goods, building materials, furnishings and appliances in a single, customer-friendly location. We will have plenty of parking and we'll have easier access for our generous donors. We are tremendously grateful for our ReStore volunteers, donors and customers and we look forward to your continued support.
